DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the Preliminary Amendment filed on December 12, 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 48-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "relatively low" in claim 48 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "relatively low" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. The term "relatively low" renders the phrase "electrical resistance" indefinite because it cannot be determined specifically what value is considered to be a low electrical resistance.

Claims 49 and 51 each recites the limitation "the plane" in the first lines of claims 49 and 51 and the third line of claim 49. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. This limitation renders the claims indefinite because it cannot be ascertained if "the plane" refers to one of the "boundary planes" recited in independent claim 48 or if "the plane" is a new limitation.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 48, 49, and 51, as far as understood, are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 2, 7, 8, and 11 of U.S. Patent No. 6,724,042. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1, 2, 7, 8, and 11 of Patent '042 contain all of the limitations of claim 48 of the instant invention.

Art Unit: 2815

Claims 8 and 11 of Patent '042 also include the limitations of claims 49 and 51 of the instant invention.

Allowable Subject Matter

Although claim 48 was rejected above under 35 USC 112, claim 50 contains allowable subject matter. The claim would be allowable if the 112 rejection above were overcome and rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Shindou et al. (US 6,677,626 B1) and Inoue et al. (JP 2001-332726 A) also disclose semiconductor devices comprising vertical drift current path regions and partition regions extending from the active region of the device.
